14. Rationale for Change(s) – if rationale involves accreditation requirements, please include specific references to that.

Currently, COM majors can declare a career path and never take a single upper division elective in that specialization. The proposed change ensures that students who declare a particular path take 2 of the 5 required upper division electives in their chosen area. Adding an additional career path in "human communication" grants students the option to take any 15 hours of approved upper division electives and still graduate (as is currently the case) with a degree in Communication.
