Current Course Report

If YES, explain and offer brief rational: EDL 706 is first course taken by candidates in the Principal Program. The original version (EDL 706 Leadership in Learning-Centered Schools I) focused narrowly on a principal's role as instructional leader, which failed to provide the requisite overview of all six professional responsibilities articulated in the ISLLC standards that frame expectations for Kentucky principals (i.e., visionary leadership, instructional leadership, administrative leadership, collaborative leadership, ethical leadership, advocacy leadership). As candidates progressed through the program, it became evident that they did not have a working knowledge of all six professional responsibilities, which made it difficult for them to conceptualize fully the principalship. The proposed revised course title and description as well as the syllabus changes address all six ISLLC standards while integrating the original learning outcomes and major assignments in the original version of EDL 706.

Required Course Resources

Professional reading, independent study, and reflection are fundamental requirements of this course. The first three books listed below are major sources of course content for EDL 706, whereas the last two are resources for academic writing. Additional readings are assigned in the course calendar in this syllabus. The bibliography at end of syllabus contains additional resources recommended for independent reading and professional development.

Student Responsibilities in Graduate Course

Graduate students assume major responsibility for their own learning. As members of a learning community, they are likewise responsible for helping their peers by consulting with them and engaging in collaborative solution finding before seeking assistance from instructor. A class roster is developed and distributed to support peer and instructor communication.

Distance Learning Considerations

This course requires use of information technology: Students are expected to have regular access to a personal computer, web camera and headset, and the Internet to complete learning activities and assignments. Online activities may be completed within designated sections of the course Canvas lu(http://www.uky.edu/canvas/) and through sites that support synchronous online meetings (e.g., Adobe Connect, Google Hangout) or collect data (e.g., Survey Monkey).

Commitment to Diversity

UK is committed to making diversity central to university policies, decisions, and practices to strengthen diversity within the Commonwealth. Efforts by a broad-based task force appointed by President Todd defined diversity as embracing difference or promoting increased knowledge regarding race/ethnicity, gender, religion, sexual orientation, disability, veteran affairs, and thought within an inclusive community. This definition of diversity values an inclusive institutional culture, academic programs, and co-curricular activities that prepare candidates for active, global citizenship. This commitment further allows for an educational process that fosters growth among all members of the academic community by including a wide array of talents, and recognizing the human differences are organizational strengths (University-Wide Comprehensive Diversity Plan Task Force Report, April 2005, p. 6).

Because the desired outcome is excellence in education, UK "does not practice discrimination on the basis of race/ethnicity, gender, religion, sexual orientation, or disability" (p. 6).

The College of Education supports the university-wide definition of diversity and enhances it through an expanded interpretation. This broader conceptualization of diversity includes learning exceptionalities, native languages, socioeconomic status, and life experiences often created by residing in unique geographical regions such as Appalachia. Curricula within the UK College of Education, field experiences, and membership of its faculty and student body reflect a commitment to diversity.

Leading successful P12 schools and districts requires understanding of and sensitivity to differences among groups of people and individuals based on ethnicity, race, socioeconomic status, gender, exceptionalities, language, religion, sexual orientation, and geographical area. Hence, diversity is a theme woven throughout this graduate course, which focuses on preparing and developing principals with requisite knowledge, dispositions, and skills to practice effectively the multiple responsibilities of school leadership and change agency.

UK Policies

The adopted UK academic policies apply in this course and are articulated in the Students Rights and Responsibilities Handbook and the UK Graduate Bulletin. Important policies and regulations applicable to this course include, but are not limited to, those concerning attendance, cheating and plagiarism, course withdrawal, incomplete grades, and acceptable standards of English. The course instructor retains absolute discretion concerning acceptance of required assignments after established due dates and reserves the right to lower grades on assignments submitted late. For more information about UK Policies, go to www.research.uky.edu/gs/bulletin/bullinfo.shtml

Absences. The UK Senate Rules 5.2.4.2 defines acceptable reasons for absences as (a) serious illness, (b) illness or death of family members, (c) university-related trips, (d) major religious holidays, and (d) other circumstances that the instructor finds to be "reasonable cause for nonattendance" by the instructor. Regular attendance is essential. If candidates must miss a scheduled class meeting, then they must notify course instructor about the reason for the absence before it occurs. In the event of emergency absences (e.g., personal illness, major accident, death of family member), candidates should notify course instructor as soon as possible, preferably through e-mail communication. Additional assignments may be required for missed class meetings.

Canceled Class. If a class meeting must be canceled, course instructor will make every possible effort to contact students in sufficient time to avoid unnecessary travel to UK for face-to-face meeting or to adjust schedule for planned online synchronous session.

Changes to Syllabus. The course instructor retains the right to modify this syllabus, if necessary, to meet the learning objectives of this course. Changes to this syllabus will be discussed with students and provided in writing to students as an addendum distributed electronically and posted on the course Canvas site.

Quality of Candidate Work

Unless specified otherwise, all papers must be presented in the writing style of the sixth edition of the *Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association*² (see pp. 61-224). Online assistance is available at the APA Web site (http://www.apastyle.org) or Purdue University Online Writing Lab (https://owl.english.purdue.edu/). Students are expected to follow rules of usage and principles of composition provided by Strunk and White (2000)³. If the two resources listed in the footnote below present differing rules, students are to adhere to the writing guidelines in the APA Manual. All academic papers must be word-processed in Times New Roman 12-point font and according to assignment guidelines, if appropriate. Non-academic documents (e.g., PowerPoint slides, training tools) must conform to APA writing guidelines, but students have discretion in selecting font style.

Plagiarism. According to UK Senate Rules 6.3.1, students shall not plagiarize, cheat, or falsity or misuse academic records. Hence, where appropriate, references to professional and research literature must be integrated into the text and cited at the end of all student papers. The minimum consequence for cheating or plagiarism is a zero on assignment or potentially an "E" grade in the course. Plagiarism is a form of cheating--stealing ideas or intellectual property created by others. Students are cautioned to reference all resources properly: The mere rephrasing of another author's work does not excuse the student from the requirement for including proper citations (i.e, providing attribution to other authors' works that informed student's thinking). Cite all sources accurately! Also be aware that re-cycling of assignments from other courses can be interpreted as self-plagiarizing and fails to meet the minimal standards of intellectual rigor required in graduate study.

Peer Review. Prior to submitting a final paper to instructor, students are encouraged to share a draft of their completed manuscripts with a class peer for critical feedback—with the understanding that (a) conducting a critical review of peer's paper must be reciprocated and (b) conducting a peer review is not opportunity to plagiarize. Reviewing others' work helps to improve one's own writing and provides additional interpretations of literature. Peer review requires shared commitment to complete review by requested date and understanding that content of reviewed paper is peer's intellectual property that will not be plagiarized.

Late Submittals. Unless specified differently in the assignment guidelines, each written assignment is to be delivered to instructor as an attachment to an email message addressed to tricia.ferrigno@uky.edu and sent no later than 10:00 AM on the due date. Late assignments will be accepted only in cases of extreme emergencies, and the decision to accept late work is solely instructor's discretion.

Incomplete Grade. Incomplete grades for this course are issued reluctantly and sparingly—and only if a passing grade will result from completion of the work. The UK Graduate School permits students one calendar year—unless a shorter time frame is deemed appropriate by the instructor—to remove an "I" grade. If the contracted work is not completed satisfactorily, the "I" grade converts automatically to an "E" (failure). UK and EDL rules require students requesting an "I" grade to complete a contract specifying how and when the "I" will be removed during contracted period. The contract must be submitted to instructor before an "I" grade can be issued. Incomplete work and missing assignments will be assigned "E" grades if the student does not submit a completed Incomplete Grade Contract by the course deadline.

Integration of Syllabus with UK College of Education Conceptual Framework

This graduate course addresses the four themes within the conceptual framework of the UK College of Education: research, reflection, learning, and leading. Throughout the semester candidates have opportunities to review, analyze, discuss, and apply research from diverse perspectives in education, including professional scholarship and practitioner inquiry and reflect on their own practices as P12 educators as they study, observe, and work in P12 school and university classrooms. Reflection is integrated regularly through oral and written communication to help candidates hone their analytical and problem-solving skills that comprise critical professional reflection on one's own practice. This course emphasizes the commitment of the UK College of Education to ensure that its graduates continue their professional careers equipped for life-long learning as educators actively leading colleagues in their schools, districts, and professional organizations. The ultimate goal in addressing these four themes is to produce educational leaders who work together to improve student learning among diverse populations and improve education in Kentucky and beyond.

Standards-based Curriculum

EDL 706 is a required course for the EdS in Educational Leadership Studies with principal certification program and was designed to meet requirements established by EPSB for school principals. This introductory course in the Principal Program provides an overview of all *Educational Leadership Policy Standards: ISLLC 2008*⁴, International Society for Technology in Education (ISTE) standards for administrators⁵, and Dimensions and Functions for School Leaders⁶.

Unbridled Learning Initiatives

Course content and assignments provides opportunities for graduate students to advance their knowledge and mastery of the tools associated with Kentucky education reform (e.g., Kentucky Core Academic Standards, characteristics of highly effective learning and teaching, classroom assessments that assure learning, career and college readiness, school-performance accountability). As students engage in required clinical practice within P12 schools, they will address one or more components of the Senate Bill 1 initiatives.

Course Requirements and Expectations

Unless specified otherwise, all assignments must be submitted to instructor electronically via Canvas no later than 10:00 AM (Eastern Time Zone) on the due date. Guidelines for all course assignments will be distributed in class sessions and posted on the course Canvas site.

- 1. ISLLC Standards Self-Assessment. Candidate completes a self-assessment of the performance expectations for Kentucky principals, which are based on the Educational Leadership Policy Standards: ISLLC 2008. This ungraded self-assessment is repeated at midpoint of program and near completion of program to inform students of their progress in understanding school-leadership standards. Responses to all three self-assessments are uploaded to candidate's electronic portfolio.
- 2. Leadership Resume (10 points). Candidate develops a leadership-oriented resume that is no more than two pages in length, typed, and single-spaced. The final version of resume developed during EDL 706 must be uploaded to each student's electronic portfolio.
- 3. Online Reading Assessments (20 points). Candidate responds to prompts about specific assigned readings through Survey Monkey instruments by due dates established by instructor. Extensions to complete the reading assessments are rarely allowed.
- 4. Career Counseling Interview and Initial Professional Growth Plan (IPGP) (20 points). Candidate schedules private meeting with her or his principal to share results of self-assessment of performance expectations for Kentucky principals and gain feedback on individualized professional development while enrolled in principal preparation program. Candidate then drafts an IPGP based on candidate's responses on their first self-assessment of professional standards and career counseling interview. Candidate identifies both current strengths and growth areas and then proposes actions he or she will take to enhance development as a school leader. The final version of the IPGP developed during EDL 706 must be uploaded to student's individual electronic portfolio.
- 5. Cooperative Jigsaw Readings (10 points). Students will work in small groups using Bb Groups as virtual environment to discuss and synthesize chapter content about their assigned jigsaw readings. Each group will prepare a one-page, two-sided handout about the major content of assigned readings and implications for practice to share with class. Instructors will provide written guidelines about these group assignments.
- 6. Principal Shadowing and Interview (20 points). To understand the scope of work responsibilities of school leaders, candidate shadows a principal for a full day (if possible) and take notes of principal's activities and actions as a school leader and manager. After analyzing notes taken during principal shadowing, candidate schedules time for a private interview with the principal and follows interview protocol developed by class. Using their shadowing and interview notes, they report of key findings in a short paper according to written guidelines for this assignment.
- 7. Leadership Platform (10 points). Students develop a one-page statement about their educational leadership philosophy based on the ISLLC Standards. The platform is a required entry in the EDL portfolio. The instructor will provide written guidelines about this assignment.

- 8. Peer Observation (10 points). Candidate observes a classroom with diverse student populations (e.g., English language learners, special education students, economically disadvantaged students, members of minority groups, students in gifted programs). Candidate meets with peer during both a pre- and post-observation professional discussion. Following post-observation conference, candidate completes the Diverse Classroom Observation Form and submits as directed.
- Electronic Portfolio Shell. Students create their electronic portfolio in OTIS and submit Word version of proposed table of contents. By last week of semester, students upload final versions of required portfolio documents to their individual electronic portfolio
