Course Description:

An advanced course exploring the works of a single important author of English literature, or literature in translation, from any period or nationality. It focuses on developing a strong familiarity with the oeuvre of a specific important writer. See departmental listings for different offerings per semester. No prerequisites. Provides ENG Major Elective credit and ENG minor credit. May fulfill ENG Early Period requirement depending on the course; see departmental listings for different offerings per semester.

This section of ENG 339 is an introduction to the major writings of Herman Melville, and, more generally, to the American literary, cultural, and political scene in the second half of the nineteenth century. Melville's works will help us engage some of the most important and contested ideas circulating in nineteenth-century US culture about gender and sexuality, class conflict and slavery, alienation and individualism, technological change and the growth of capitalism, and American exceptionalism and American imperialism. To help us understand Melville's literary style, his intellectual passions, and his place within the literature and history of the nineteenth century, we will cover a wide range of selections, including perhaps the best-known novel of the American Renaissance, Moby-Dick, and lesser-known works of poetry and prose from later in his career.

Prerequisites:

Prerequisite: completion of UK Core Composition and Communication I-II requirement or equivalent. Provides ENG Major Elective credit and ENG minor credit. May be repeated to a maximum of 9 hours under different subtitles. May fulfill ENG Early Period requirement depending on the course: see departmental listings for different offerings per semester.

Student Learning Outcomes:

After completing this course, the student will be able to:

- 1. Analyze and interpret the writings of Herman Melville according to various styles and genres;
- 2. Identify literary trends, intellectual movements, and historical and cultural contexts germane to the writings of Herman Melville;
- 3. Apply critical and theoretical approaches to literary texts, in particular, New Historicism, Postcolonial Studies, Cultural Studies, Environmental Studies, and Feminist Theory;
- 4. Communicate and exchange ideas with others in a public forum;
- 5. Present scholarly work on a specific topic relating to the course material;
- 6. Write text-based argumentative essays.

Course goals or objectives:

Student course goals and work products will include:

- 1. Reading a challenging selection of writings by a major American Renaissance figure, Herman Melville;
- 2. Reading criticism and scholarship (e.g. journal articles and book chapters) about Melville's writing and the literature of the period;
- 3. Producing a significant amount original writing showing critical engagement with the subjects covered in the course;
- 4. Producing other work (e.g. presentations, exams, online responses) as described in the syllabus (see below).

Required Materials:

Required textbooks include:

- 1. Herman Melville, Moby Dick. (Longman, 2007).
- 2. Herman Melville, Billy Budd and Other Stories. (Penguin, 1986).
- 3. Herman Melville, Typee. (Penguin, 1996).
- 4. Herman Melville, Pierre. (Penguin, 1996).
- 5. Herman Melville, Bartleby and Benito Cereno. (Dover, 1990).

Additionally there will be handouts of critical articles and supplementary readings. These will be posted to Blackboard.

Course Assignments:

Course work and expectations will include:

- Two critical essays of approximately 3-5 and 8-10 pages
- Two exams: a take-home midterm exam and an in-class final exam
- An in-class oral presentation during the final week of classes
- Online discussion
- · Regular attendance and participation

Summary Description of Course Assignments:

This course focuses on critical reading, critical writing, and enhancing strategies for analyzing literary texts from multiple critical and theoretical perspectives. The first major assignment, essay #1, will be a short close reading essay designed to hone students' ability to work closely with language and to analyze with precision. The two exams and online discussions will build on the close reading skills from essay #1 and require students to formulate analytical responses to our critical readings; essay #2 synthesizes the above skills and incorporates outside research; in the presentation, students will teach the class about the topic they researched in their second essay. Students will received detailed instructions for all assignments far in advance of the deadline.

Course Grading:

Grading scale for undergraduates:

A = 90-100%; B = 80-89%; C = 70-79%; D = 60-69%; E = 59% or lower.

Unsubmitted work will receive a grade of 0.

Grade components and weights:

	Essay #1 (4-5 pages):	15%
•	Take-home Midterm Exam (6-8 pages):	15%
•	Presentation:	10%
•	Essay #2 (8-10 pages):	20%
•	Online Discussion (4-6 pages):	10%
•	Attendance and participation:	15%
•	Final Exam:	15%
	total·	100%

Final Exam Information:

The final exam for this class will be given on the day & time determined by the Registrar for classes in our time slot.

Mid-term Grades:

Mid-term grades will be posted in myUK by the deadline established in the Academic Calendar (http://www.uky.edu/Registrar/AcademicCalendar.htm)

Course Policies (as per the University of Kentucky, the College of Arts & Sciences, the Dept. of English, and this class):

Submission of Assignments:

Assignments are due on the days listed or set in consultation with the instructor. Quizzes cannot be made up without a valid excused absence. Papers may be submitted electronically on the due-dates listed. Students are responsible for the successful transmission and reception of submitted materials, whether via Blackboard or email. Email or computer failures will not be accepted as valid excuses for late work. Late work will be penalized by a full letter grade for each day it is past the deadline.

Attendance and Participation Policies:

This is an English class in which discussion, listening, and in-class guidance are absolutely central. Full attendance is expected. Students will be allowed one week's absence (2 class periods) without penalty. For each absence beyond that, the attendance grade will be penalized 3 grade points. After absences totaling 20% of class for any reason (i.e., 6+ absences for 16 weeks), students will fail the class and will be expected to withdraw pursuant to S.R. 5.2.4.1-2.

Student participation is also an important and evaluated component of this course. The class participation grade is not only based on attendance, but also is based on active contributions to class discussions and activities through completing assignments, completing in-class work (both individual and group), blackboard activities, and assigned reading prior to class. Students need to be sure to sign in or register for each class and check blackboard regularly for announcements and discussion threads. Arriving late for class or leaving early will negatively affect your participation grade. Please be sure to discuss any late arrivals or early departures with the instructor. Ungraded assignments will be used in class throughout the semester and will count towards your class participation.

Students are expected to actively participate in the class discussions by:

- Coming to class having completed assigned readings and having prepared to discuss them when appropriate;
- Demonstrating an active interest in the topic being discussed by both verbal and nonverbal behaviors;
- Participating in class discussion vs. engaging in non-relevant side conversations;
- Demonstrating an active commitment to share thoughts and reactions with other students;
- Assuming responsibility for involving other students in all subjects discussed (listening, asking questions, and allowing space for others to contribute);
- Sharing relevant information from one's knowledge base or life experiences with classmates;
- Respecting colleagues and their contributions with polite and tolerant behavior.

Excused Absences:

Students need to notify the instructor of absences prior to class when possible. S.R. 5.2.4.2 defines the following as acceptable reasons for excused absences: (a) serious illness, (b) illness or death of family member, (c) University-related trips, (d) major religious holidays, and (e) other circumstances found to fit "reasonable cause for nonattendance" by the professor.

Students anticipating an absence for a major religious holiday are responsible for notifying the instructor in writing of anticipated absences due to their observance of such holidays no later than the last day in the semester to add a class. Information regarding dates of major religious holidays may be obtained through the religious liaison, Mr. Jake Karnes (859-257-2754).

Students are expected to withdraw from the class if more than 20% of the classes scheduled for the semester are missed (excused or unexcused) per university policy.

Verification of Absences:

Students may be asked to verify their absences in order for them to be considered excused. Senate Rule 5.2.4.2 states that faculty have the right to request "appropriate verification" when students claim an excused absence because of illness or death in the family. Appropriate notification of absences due to university-related trips is required prior to the absence.

Academic Integrity:

Per university policy (S.R. 6.3.1), students shall not plagiarize, cheat, or falsify or misuse academic records. Students are expected to adhere to University policy on cheating and plagiarism in all courses. The minimum penalty for a first offense is a zero on the assignment on which the offense occurred. If the offense is considered severe or the student has other academic offenses on their record, more serious penalties, up to suspension from the university, may be imposed.

Plagiarism and cheating are serious breaches of academic conduct. Each student is advised to become familiar with the various forms of academic dishonesty as explained in the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities. Complete information can be found at the following website: http://www.uky.edu/Ombud. A plea of ignorance is not acceptable as a defense against the charge of academic dishonesty. It is important that you review this information as all ideas borrowed from others need to be properly credited.

Part II of Student Rights and Responsibilities states that all academic work, written or otherwise, submitted by students to their instructors or other academic supervisors, is expected to be the result of their own thought, research, or self-expression. In cases where students feel unsure about the question of plagiarism involving their own work, they are obliged to consult their instructors on the matter before submission. Please see the Student Rights and Responsibilities available online: http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/part2.html.

When students submit work purporting to be their own, but which in any way borrows ideas, a rganization, wording or anything else from another source without appropriate acknowledgement of the fact, the students are guilty of plagiarism. Plagiarism includes reproducing someone else's work, whether it be a published article, chapter of a book, a paper from a friend or some file, or something similar to this. Plagiarism also includes the practice of employing or allowing another person to alter or revise the work which a student submits as his/her own, whoever that other person may be.

Students may discuss assignments among themselves or with an instructor or tutor, but when the actual work is done, it must be done by the student, and the student alone. When a student's assignment involves research in outside sources of information, the student must carefully acknowledge exactly what, where, and how he/she employed them. If the words of someone else are used, the student must put quotation marks around the passage in question and add an appropriate indication of its origin, Making simple changes while leaving the organization, content and phraseology intact is plagiaristic. However, nothing in these Rules shall apply to those ideas which are so generally and freely circulated as to be a part of the public domain (Section 6.3.1).

Please note: Any assignment you turn in may be submitted to an electronic database to check for plagiarism.

Accommodations due to disability:

If you have a documented disability that requires academic accommodations, please see the instructor as soon as possible during scheduled office hours. In order to receive accommodations in this course, you must provide the instructor with a Letter of Accommodation from the Disability Resource Center (Room 2, Alumni Gym, 257-2754, email address: jkarnes@email.uky.edu) for coordination of campus disability services available to students with disabilities.

Classroom Behavior:

Good decorum and civil behavior is expected from all students at all times. Good classroom citizenship requires a few basic considerations beyond preparing for and actively participating in classroom activities. I expect you to be on time for class; repeated tardies will be counted as absences. You will need to bring all necessary materials to class, including textbooks, paper, a pen, etc. All members of the classroom (including me) should turn off their cell phones, I-pods, etc. and put them away promptly when class begins. I expect that you will pay attention and avoid distracting others by talking, sleeping, reading the newspaper, etc. In short, please be courteous to your fellow students and to me while you're in class. I will ask you to leave for repeated or excessive disruptions.

Electronic Aids

I do permit laptops, i-Pads, Kindles, etc.—as long as they are used in service of the class. You should feel free to use these approved electronic devices to read our primary texts, take notes, access reading materials on Blackboard, search for supplementary information, etc. Please refrain from using these devices for reasons unrelated to class. If I feel that your usage is a distraction, I will ask you to leave your computers at home.
