1. How does this course provide for timely and appropriate interaction between students and faculty and among students? Does the course syllabus conform to University Senate Syllabus Guidelines, specifically the Distance Learning Considerations? The course will be taught online with pre-recorded lectures, online exercises and exams. The instructor will offer regular office hours for online chat, or telephone contact if needed, as well as open email access. The syllabus will conform with the University Senate Guidelines.

2. How do you ensure that the experience for a DL student is comparable to that of a classroom-based student's experience? Aspects to explore: textbooks, course goals, assessment of student learning outcomes, etc. The course plan is very similar to the in-class experience, which consists mainly of lecture presentations, online homework and in-class exams. The student will work with the textbook in essentially the same way as the in-class student.

3. How is the integrity of student work ensured? Please speak to aspects such as password-protected course portals, proctors for exams at interactive video sites; academic offense policy; etc. The course will be offered through Blackboard or other similar online classroom management software, ensuring that each student has individual protected access to the course materials. Online assignments are open book and exams will be individually unique, time-limited and one-time access.

4. Will offering this course via DL result in at least 25% or at least 50% (based on total credit hours required for completion) of a degree program being offered via any form of DL, as defined above? Yes.

If yes, which percentage, and which program(s)? 100% of this program's (Master of Public Financial Management) courses will be offered through DL.

5. How are students taking the course via DL assured of equivalent access to student services, similar to that of a student taking the class in a traditional classroom setting? As registered students at UK, they will have access to the full range of student services as outlined on the UK Student Affairs website (<http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/>) Students will also be provided an electronic copy of the attached "UK Student Academic Services" document.

6. How do course requirements ensure that students make appropriate use of learning resources? Successful completion of course requirements will require that students make appropriate use of the textbook and required internet sites, and access to library resources are available on the library website for DL (http://www.uky.edu/Libraries/lib.php?lib_id=16)

7. Please explain specifically how access is provided to laboratories, facilities, and equipment appropriate to the course or program. This course will not require physical access to any particular facility or equipment.

8. How are students informed of procedures for resolving technical complaints? Does the syllabus list the entities available to offer technical help with the delivery and/or receipt of the course, such as the Information Technology Customer Service Center (<http://www.uky.edu/UKIT/>)? The syllabus lists technical support services and students will be provided with a list of available University resources.

9. Will the course be delivered via services available through the Distance Learning Program (DLP) and the Academic Technology Group (ATL)? YES

If no, explain how student enrolled in DL courses are able to use the technology employed, as well as how students will be provided with assistance in using said technology.

10. Does the syllabus contain all the required components? YES

11. I, the instructor of record, have read and understood all of the university-level statements regarding DL.

Distance Learning Form

This form must accompany every submission of a new/change course form that requests distance learning delivery. This form may be required when changing a course already approved for DL fields are required!

Introduction/Definition: For the purposes of the Commission on Colleges Southern Association of Colleges and Schools accreditation review, distance learning is defined as a educational process in which the majority of the instruction (interaction between students and instructors and among students) in a course occurs when students and instructors the same place. Instruction may be synchronous or asynchronous. A distance learning (DL) course may employ correspondence study, or audio, video, or computer technologies

A number of specific requirements are listed for DL courses. The department proposing the change in delivery method is responsible for ensuring that the requirements are satisfied at the individual course level. It is the responsibility of the instructor to have read and understood the university-level assurances regarding an equivalent experience for students utilizing DL (available at <http://www.uky.edu/USC/New/forms.htm>).

Revised 8/09

¹¹ Courses are typically made effective for the semester following approval. No course will be made effective until all approvals are received.

¹² The chair of the cross-listing department must sign off on the Signature Routing Log.

¹³ In general, undergraduate courses are developed on the principle that one semester hour of credit represents one hour of classroom meeting per week for a semester, exclusive of any laboratory meeting. A meeting, generally, represents at least two hours per week for a semester for one credit hour. (from SR 5.2.1)

¹⁴ You must also submit the Distance Learning Form in order for the proposed course to be considered for DL delivery.

¹⁵ In order to change a program, a program change form must also be submitted.

Required Text (proposed)

Governmental and Nonprofit Entities - 17th edition by Jacqueline Reck, Suzanne Lowensohn with access to Connect (online assignment modules)

Course Prerequisites: NA

Course Description

The course will examine the characteristics of governmental and nonprofit accounting emphasizing the various fund types and account groups, review and evaluation of presently recommended accounting and financial reporting procedures (GAAP) and an exploration of practical governmental and nonprofit accounting practices and methods. The course will introduce students to public financial accounting concepts and how to apply governmental (fund) and not-for-profit accounting theory to accounting and reporting for state and local governments and other non-profit institutions.

Learning Objectives: Students will learn how to:

- Understand financial reports for governmental and not-for-profit entities.
- Prepare financial reports for state and local governments.
- Properly account for general funds and special revenue funds.
- Properly account for capital projects funds, debt service funds, internal service funds, enterprise funds, and fiduciary funds.
- Understand financial reports for local and state school systems, colleges and universities, and hospitals and other non-profits.
- Analyze governmental financial performance.

ASSIGNMENTS

Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) for selected U.S. state or major city

Lecture: Available on course site.

Selected Readings: Available on course site. TBD

Participation in Discussion Board:

Weekly Scale for Discussion Boards:

5 Exceptional – thoughtful post(s) and responses across multiple days

Martin School of Public Policy and Administration – Master of Public Financial Management Proposal

- 4 Professional – thoughtful post(s) and responses on single day
- 3 Average –post(s) and responses across multiple days with less depth
- 2 Marginal – minimal post(s) and responses across multiple days
- 1 Unacceptable/Inappropriate – minimal post(s) and responses on single day
- 2 No participation

Research Project

Students will complete an in-depth analysis of a selected governmental body. The final written report must include (at a minimum) analysis of revenues, revenue sources, reserves, expenditures, expenses, debt burden, socioeconomic factors, projected concerns, and other matters that impact the financial condition of the entity. The entity selected to evaluate must be approved by the professor –states and major cities are recommended.

Blackboard Assignment Submission Guidelines

Students are encouraged to become familiar with Blackboard and its functions as well as Distance Learning support offered by the University. Information about student support is available at <http://www.uky.edu/DistanceLearning/>. When posting assignments or communicating with the professor, all files must be saved as a .pdf, or .doc, or .docx unless specifically noted by the professor. Any other format will not be accepted and considered as missing unless corrected before the deadline. Other specifics regarding technology needs, etc. to participate via online courses, are available at the link above. It is the students' responsibility to assure that they are familiar with the system. Questions about technology issues should be directed to Distance Learning support and not to the professor.

Assignment Submissions

This course "clock" is set for Eastern Time. Depending on the student's location, students will need to adjust submission to assure that all deadlines are met using Eastern Time. All assignments must be posted to the classroom Blackboard Shell by 7:00 pm on Friday of the assigned week. This includes all assignments, oral communication, presentations, assignments, as well as self and peer critiques and class discussion postings if applicable. No late assignments will be accepted without prior approval of the instructor and an excused absence as described in this syllabus. Failure complete and submit any of the major assignments (exams or papers) will result in an automatic "E" for the course which may lead to dismissal from the program (see Grading Policy elsewhere in this syllabus). Graded assignments will be returned to you within one week of submission unless otherwise noted by the instructor.

GRADING CRITERIA

There are no optional assignments. Your grade in this course is a function of the following:

COURSE TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

Minimum Technology Requirements: Complete the following steps to make sure your computer is correctly configured and the necessary software is installed.

1. Go to this site provided by Distance Learning to check the minimum hardware, software, and browser requirements: <http://www.uky.edu/ukit/hardwareguide>
2. Distance learning recommends having access to multiple browsers for quick troubleshooting.

3. Students will need Flash, Adobe Acrobat Reader and QuickTime movie player, Java. Go to <http://www.uky.edu/DistanceLearning/current/technology/techReqs.html> for current links.
4. Students will need to use Microsoft Word for all written work and Microsoft PowerPoint for presentational where applicable.

Getting Help: Anticipate the types of technology and access you will need prior to class sessions and assignment due dates. Do not hesitate to contact the UKIT Service Help Desk or Distance Learning Office. Inform your instructor when you are having technical difficulties.

Important Contact Information:

Help Desk: 859-218-HELP (4357)
 Distance Learning Programs Office: 859-257-3377
 Distance Learning Services, DL Librarian: 859-257-0500, ext. 2171; or 800-828-0439 (option#6);

Procedure for Resolving Technical Complaints: If you experience technical difficulties, contact the Customer Service Center at 859-218-HELP or by email at helpdesk@uky.edu. Inform your instructor when you are having technical difficulties.

Time Zone: This course is taught in the Eastern Time Zone. All times listed in this syllabus are ET. If you live outside the ET, you need to account for the time change when turning in assignments.

VIRTUAL CLASS POLICIES

Academic Integrity: The Martin School of Public Policy and Administration and its faculty are strong proponents of academic integrity. Students are expected to have full knowledge of the institutional Integrity Policy of the University. For information on these policies please refer to The Martin School Student Handbook or http://www.uky.edu/Ombud/ForStudents_AcademicIntegrity.php.

See Part II of Student Rights and Responsibilities, which is available online to learn more about academic integrity at the University of Kentucky available at <http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/part2.html>).

Similarly, the definition of plagiarism is “an act or instance of using or closely imitating the language and thoughts of another author without authorization and the presentation of that author's work as one's own, as by not crediting the original author”. Plagiarism, i.e. using people's ideas, thoughts, or works will not be tolerated. Students who violate university standards for academic integrity will be subject to a sanction at the instructor's discretion within institutional policy.

Plagiarism and cheating are serious breaches of academic conduct. Students are expected to adhere to University policy on cheating and plagiarism in all courses. The minimum penalty for a first offense is a zero on the assignment on which the offense occurred. If the offense is considered severe or the student has other academic offenses on their record, more serious penalties, up to suspension from the university may be imposed. The University regulations pertaining to this matter can be found at <http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/>. Part II, Selected Rules of the University Senate Governing Academic Relationships Section 6.3 found at <http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/part2.html> outlines University policy with respect to these to serious offenses.

Each student is advised to become familiar with the various forms of academic dishonesty as explained in the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities. Complete information can be found at the following website: <http://www.uky.edu/Ombud>. It is important that students review this information as all ideas borrowed from others need to be properly credited.

The University and the Martin School expects students to know about these policies and all requirements governing the use of another's work or materials and for acknowledging and documenting the source appropriately. A plea of ignorance is not acceptable as a defense against the charge of academic dishonesty and is not an excuse and will not be accepted under any circumstances. The Martin School and its faculty reserve the right to submit student work product to an electronic database or use other means use to check for plagiarism.

Resources for understanding and avoiding Plagiarism

- "Plagiarism: What is It and How to Recognize and Avoid It," The Writing Center at Indiana University, <http://www.indiana.edu/~wts/wts/plagiarism.html>.
- "Principles Regarding Academic Integrity," Northwestern University, <http://www.northwestern.edu/uacc/plagiar.html>.
- "Sources," Dartmouth College, <http://www.dartmouth.edu/~sources/contents.html>, and <http://www.aug.edu/sociology/plagiarism.html>.

Appointments and Office Hours: Online classes provide opportunity to interact with professors by email and other means. Office hours will be at the times listed above and by appointment and will be held via Adobe Connect.

Attendance and Participation: As an accelerated 8-week graduate level course, students are expected to budget time appropriately and manage course assignments within the class schedule. Students without good time management skills and self-motivation are very likely to fall behind quickly. Budgeting time for course assignments as if attending a regular class will give students the best option for success. Delaying assignments and procrastination will not lead to a successful outcome. Weekly assignments require students to submit work on time and students are expected to check the course website on a regular basis for messages, updates on assignments, and other communications from the professor. Due to the fast past schedule, complete assignments must be submitted on time according to the course schedule. Late assignments will not be accepted.

Late/Make-up Work: Students will receive ZERO points for assignments handed in after the scheduled due date, unless prior arrangements have been made with the professor. (see Excused Absence). Students' request to change dates and exam times around work schedules, personal matters, other coursework, and/or other exams in other classes will not be accommodated. Remember, assignments may always be turned in early. Students enrolled in this course are expected to meet all assignment dates unless otherwise approved. (see Excused Absence). Exams are to be taken at the scheduled exam time unless prior permission is given by the instructor.

Excused Absence: Given this is an online course, traditional "attendance" will not be taken. The Martin School understands that sometimes issues surface that prevent students from completing assignments. If students are unable to meet an assignment or other required course deadline, students may submit request for excused absence and will be considered within the University definition found in UK Student Code 5.2.4.2. Students are expected to notify the professor within one week of missing the assignment and if approved for excused absence, students will be given opportunity to submit the work with the permission and within a timeline set by the professor. Students will not be penalized for excused absences. Exams are to be taken at the scheduled exam time unless prior permission is given by the instructor. Professor's office phone is available for emergency contact or by email to request an excused absence. University policies related to these issues can be found online at

<http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/part2.html>

Academic Standards: 5.2.4

Attendance and Completion of Assignments: 5.2.4.1

Excused absences: 5.3.4.2

S.R.5.2.4.2 defines the following as acceptable reasons for excused absences : (a) serious illness, (b) illness or death of family member, (c) University-related trips, (d) major religious holidays, and (e) other circumstances found to fit "reasonable cause for non attendance" by the professor.

Students anticipating an absence for a major religious holiday are responsible for notifying the instructor in writing of anticipated absences due to their observance of such holidays. Information regarding dates of major religious holidays may be obtained through the religious liaison at 859-257-2754.

Verification of Absences: Students may be asked to verify their absences in order for them to be considered excused. Senate Rule 5.2.4.2 states that faculty have the right to request "appropriate verification" when students claim an excused absence because of illness or death in the family. Appropriate notification of absences due to university-related trips is required prior to the absence.

The Martin School wants to build an online class climate that is comfortable for all. It is especially important that we display respect for all members of the class – including the instructor and students, and avoid unacceptable language such as racist, sexist, homophobic, or other negative statements. Not all unacceptable behavior can be listed and this is not an exhaustive list of behaviors. These are provided as examples and set a standard for expected behavior while participating in this class.

E-mails and Communications: Email will be a primary way of communicating with the professor. Students must monitor and manage their email storage quota and clear all spam filter restrictions to insure emails are received. Students are expected to check their email daily to remain current with University and class related communications. All electronic communication will be treated as would a face-to-face interaction and thus students are expected to present electronic communications in a professional way. Messages should be succinct, without spelling errors, slang, and short-cut, slang language. Emails will be returned within 24 hours during the week. Weekend communications will not be returned until the beginning of the workweek. In addition to communication with the professor, any communication with fellow students should be professional in nature. In all email correspondence include the course number in subject line.

Accommodations due to disability: The Martin School and the University will make accommodations if you have a documented disability that requires academic accommodations. Evidence of the disability must be presented to the professor as soon as possible.

Grading Policy: The Martin School of Public Policy and Administration Student Handbook states that a student may be dismissed from the program for any one of the following reasons:

1. Receiving a grade of "C" for any 9 credit hours or three classes.
2. Receiving a grade of "E" for any 3 credit hours.
3. Twice failing the Final Examination.
