TA 171 World Theatre I Required Narrative

a. How the course addresses the learning outcomes of one of the four areas of General Education:

Students will demonstrate an understanding of and ability to employ the processes of intellectual inquiry in the humanities by engaging in a multicultural and transnational examination of the history, theory, dramatic literature and practices of theatre from around 500 b.c.e to 1500 c.e. Students will participate in class discussions, actively engage in a group project wherein they will read and research a play from Greece, Rome, China or India during the designated period in order to facilitate a discussion of the play by the entire class, present an oral report on a broad topic of theatre history and identify a topic or problem and write a paper on a significant moment, participant or trend in world theatre using (after evaluating) a variety of reference sources in order to offer up a comment or potential solution to the identified problem relying on sound evidence and reasoning.

b. How the course addresses the learning outcomes identified in the appropriate course template:

Learning Outcome #1,#4 & #5: In class, students will be required to present an oral report on a significant moment, participant or trend in world theatre that will be assigned to them in order to research and identify differing interpretations. Subsequently, each student will be required to identify a topic or problem derived from the broad research presented in the oral report and continue to research the more narrowly defined topic or problem leading to the drafting and writing of a research paper (relying on primary and secondary sources, scholarly publications and legitimate internet sites) that conforms with MLA Style guidelines.

Learning Outcome #2: After reading the requisite course materials and participating in discussions instigated by the instructor during class lectures, in a midterm examination and a final examination, students will have to demonstrate their ability to distinguish different artistic and historical periods, participants and trends in World Theatre from the Greeks to the Romans of Antiquity in Europe and the Chinese and Indian cultures in Asia from 500 b.c.e to 1500 c.e.

Learning Outcome #3: By studying the plays, actors, designers and theorists of Greece, Rome, India and China students will be able to identify and distinguish the values and world-views of the people of these different cultures during the period 500 b.c.e. to 1500 c.e. Students will read plays, examine theatre design and architecture, costumes and acting styles from the various periods and cultures, developing an ability to analyze and interpret the works.

c. Evidence of active engagement of students in the course:

In addition to the oral presentations and research and writing of a research paper, students will be required to participate in classroom discussions based on the required reading and students will be required to participate in at least one group assignment with 3 or 4 peers wherein the group will read, research and explore one assigned play from the cultures/periods outside of the classroom and then subsequently facilitate the discussion of the assigned play in the classroom with all the students of the course.

d. General description of the type of assignment(s) that can be extracted from the course for assessment of the General Education program:

The midterm and final examinations that will be based on all lectures, texts, handouts and other subject matter (including, but not limited to, videos, slides, models, play productions will be comprised of short answer questions (70%) and an essay (30%). These exams and the 5 page research papers (MLA Style) can be easily extracted for assessment.

² Courses are typically made effective for the semester following approval. No course will be made effective until all approvals are received.
³ Signature of the chair of the cross-listing department is required on the Signature Routing Log.
⁴ Removing a cross-listing does not drop the other course – it merely unlinks the two courses.

COURSE SUMMARY & GOALS

A multicultural and transnational examination of the history, theory, dramatic literature and practices of theatre from around 500 b.c.e to 1500 c.e. The first of four courses in a four semester sequence of world theatre. Reading plays and texts, participating in class discussions and researching theater history concerning this particular chronological period will give students a broader understanding of world theatre.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

By the end of this course, each student should be able to:

Identify and describe key theater artists (playwrights, actors, directors, designers, theorists) and significant historical moments in theater, culture and politics for each period covered;

Discuss and analyze Aristotle's 6 elements of drama for each play reviewed in class;

And each student will have:

Researched and written a paper on one significant moment, participant or trend in world theatre.

All students are expected to read the text and/or plays assigned for each class. In class, the instructor will offer a lecture on the particular subject for the day and facilitate a discussion (which may include calling on students) of the material and subject matter.

REQUIRED TEXTS:

1. History of the Theatre, Living Theatre, Wilson & Goldfarb (5th Ed. 2008)
2. The Wadsworth Anthology of Drama, W.B Worthen (Brief 5th Ed. 2007)
3. Hand-Outs (to be distributed over the course of the semester)

ATTENDANCE POLICY:

Class attendance is required. There will be individual projects, a midterm exam and a final exam for which no make-up assignment will be given for an unexcused absence. If an absence is excused and a student misses a project presentation that student is responsible for completing a make-up assignment within 2 classes of the missed project. Three unexcused absences will lower one's grade one letter. Additional absences will lower the grade proportionately. Official University excused absences will be honored. All requests for excused absences must be in writing.

If you are experiencing symptoms of the Swine Flu or another highly contagious disease, please seek medical attention and do not attend class. Inform the instructor of your condition and when you return to class provide the instructor with a note from the medical provider.

REQUIRED ATTENDANCE AT PLAYS:

The Baltimore Waltz by Paula Vogel, Briggs Theatre, Sept. 24-26, Oct. 1-3 @ 7:30pm, Oct. 4 @ 2pm, $
A Doll House by Henrik Ibsen, Guignol Theatre, November 12-14, 19-21 @7:30pm, Nov. 22 @ 2pm, $

ASSIGNMENTS:

MIDTERM EXAM (40%)

RESEARCH PRESENTATIONS/PAPER (20%)

Each student will be assigned an individual world theatre research topic. The student will conduct research on the topic and present the results of his/her research to the class on a presentation date to be assigned. After further consultation with the instructor the student will conduct further research and write a 5 page Paper (MLA style) to be submitted to the instructor (in his Theatre Department mailbox) no later than Friday, December 4, 2009. (Research/Presentation: 5%; Paper 15%)

FINAL EXAM (40%)

Covering all lectures, texts, handouts and other subject matter (including, but not limited to, videos, slides, models, play productions) for the period October 20, 2009 to December 10, 2009. The exam will be comprised of short answer questions (70%) and an essay (30%).

GRADING SCALE: A= 100-90 B= 89-80 C= 79-70 D= 69-60 E= 59-0

NOTES: The Instructor reserves the right to change the Syllabus and Course Schedule in order to accommodate the learning opportunities of the majority of students in the class and the Instructor reserves the right to adjust the grading scale in order to accommodate a latitude of flexibility that the above scale may not reflect.

PLAGIARISM DEFINITION

“Plagiarism means taking the words and thoughts of others (their ideas, concepts, images, sentences, and so forth) and using them as if they were your own, without crediting the author or citing the source. Most plagiarism is willful, a sort of theft. It is possible to plagiarize unintentionally, though, by being careless or hurried, omitting quotation marks or slipping into the words or ideas of others through inattention or simply for convenience. Whether you meant it or not, you can be found guilty of plagiarism whenever other people’s language gets used without proper citation in your text. At this and most other universities, plagiarism is regarded as intellectual theft; faculty will rarely bother to determine whether you stole words on purpose or walked out of the shop having forgotten to pay.” (Source: <http://www.uky.edu/Ombud/Plagiarism.pdf>).
